A RETROSPECT.

THE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY, at Auburn, was established by the Synod of Geneva in 1819; was incorporated by a law of the State in 1820; and went into operation in 1821. The act of incorporation placed the Institution under the care of a Board of Trustees, and a Board of Commissioners, to be chosen by the several Presbyteries in the bounds of the Synods of Utica, Geneva and Genesee, and such other Presbyteries in the State of New-York as might associate with them. One-third of the Trustees vacate their seats annually, while their places are filled by the Board of Commissioners; thus giving the ultimate supervision and control of the Institution to the ministers and churches which surround it. During the twenty-eight years since the Seminary commenced its labors, there have been connected with the Institution, besides its present members, five hundred and ninety-eight; of these fifty-one have deceased, and about thirty have, for want of health, and from other causes, failed to pursue the work of the gospel ministry: upwards of twenty-five have gone to raise the standard of the Cross among the perishing tribes of the heathen; eighty-eight have located themselves in the great Valley of the West, while the larger portion are laboring in the Northern and Western sections of New-York. About five-hundred and twenty ministers, trained in this school of the prophets, are holding forth the Word of Life from Sabbath to Sabbath. What friend of the Redeemer would not invoke the Divine blessing upon their labors?
